Pastor's Lines

Dear Church Family,
I had an enjoyable time at the Evangelism Conference in Lafayette this week. It is always good for "the preacher" to get some preaching. I soaked it up. In addition to the great messages blending into my spirit, I also enjoyed time with some of "my guys". These are the guys that I have been committed to across the years, and it was such a thrill to sit with these young men and worship together. I was so proud to see God doing great things in their lives, and know that God is calling young people to serve Him and they are heeding the call. Our very own Eric Sonnier was one of those guys. We all miss him, but we know that God has called him to a new work of ministry. We pray for his family and rejoice that God didn't call them to Alaska, LOL! We will honor Eric next Sunday, February 9th at 5pm when we ordain him to the gospel ministry. I hope you can attend this very important service.

While I was at the conference, I drifted into the Hub City Diner for some breakfast. Hub City Diner is a fixture in Lafayette, and all kinds of people pour into the diner for some good food and a warm greeting. I went two times to breakfast at the Diner (it was that good). When I entered the restaurant, I noticed that I was warmly greeted and was served in a comfortable, yet hurried way. The young lady had a bright smile, and as I watched the restaurant, I noticed that everyone was treated like family. Workers were hugging patrons, and there was a great vibe in the place. I thanked my waitress and on to the conference I went. The next day, I found my way back to the same Diner. I was served by a slightly older lady and noticed the same warm hearted smile as she took care of breakfast for me. At the end of breakfast, I commented how nice it was to be treated so well. She replied, "I am so glad to hear you say that. I have been here 15 years and we want to make sure every employee treats people with kindness. My daughter (who had served me the day before) is working here now and we try to make sure the customers are treated like family." I was impressed.

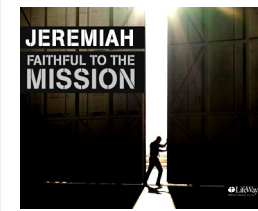

As I left that day, I thought of our church. I know we do a good job of treating people like family. But we must always remind ourselves that people who attend the church must be deliberately treated with love and respect, like family. So today, give a warm embrace, serve one another as you would like to be treated. And if someone needs more coffee, don't hesitate to grab a cup!!

Love you,

Dr. j
